OK Corral Series Presents “Coming Home Again” — A Specialized Equine-Assisted Psychotherapy Training Seminar for Professionals Working with Military Veterans and Families

NORWALK, OH — April 23–25, 2026

The OK Corral Series is proud to announce its upcoming “Coming Home Again” Equine-Assisted Psychotherapy (EAP) Certification Seminar, designed specifically to train mental health and helping professionals to support military veterans and their loved ones using the equine-assisted therapeutic methods created by Greg Kersten, Founder of Equine Assisted Psychotherapy.

Hosted at Love Grows Love Farm in Norwalk, Ohio, this immersive three-day training takes place April 23–25, 2026, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily. Led by Dr. Heide Burch, Ph.D., the seminar will equip participants with the foundational philosophy, specialized exercises, and hands-on skills needed to incorporate EAP into work with individuals, families, and groups affected by military service and reintegration challenges.

The OK Corral Series is internationally recognized for its authentic approach to equine-assisted therapeutic work, taught by practitioners deeply rooted in the field’s origin. The program’s mission is to educate, promote, and support professionals in the practice of equine-assisted psychotherapy and learning, honoring natural horse behavior as a catalyst for insight, emotional regulation, and meaningful communication.

Participants of “Coming Home Again” will:

- Experience hands-on training with horses under expert guidance;
- Learn targeted EAP techniques for supporting veterans’ reintegration, trauma recovery, depression, addiction, and family dynamics;
- Earn an EAP qualification recognized by the OK Corral Series after completion of the seminar;
